Fri, Feb 20th: Manor Care, 200 W. Martin Ave, Naperville; 630-730p;

Sat, March 7th: New Mercies Community Services Food Pantry, 3824 147th St, Midlothian; 2-5p; event: community awareness "rally" where boys would be walking door to door passing out flyers about this new food pantry in the neighborhood, followed by pizza party given to the boys by the pantry out of appreciation for their work.

Wed, April 8th: Feed My Starving Children, 555 Exchange Ct, Aurora; 915-1130a; age restriction - must be at least 3rd grade event: pack dry food that will be shipped to multiple countries and feed millions of starving children.

* We booked the morning, hoping not to interfere too much with Holy Week Missions.

If you had a few minutes, you may want to check out this organization, it is pretty phenomenal - www.fmssc.org - click on the informational video - IMPRESSIVE!

The children will receive a "pre-packing" talk about world hunger, and afterwards, they will be told details about the impact they made, and how many children they will feed from their 2 hr of work. There are only 3 of these sites in the country - schools are bringing their children in by the droves to experience this - for prime times, you need to book a year in advance. I've booked 40 spots, but there are still 50 available during our time slot.

FORGED IN VIRTUE. CALLED TO SERVE.
